Imaging Path is a locally owned office technology company that provides innovative office solutions to help you improve your business processes.

"Choosing the world's most consistent high-quality and reliable system is one thing; finding a company to support it with quality service is another," said Corey Tansom, President & CEO.

Due to their unparalleled knowledge and service, Imaging Path is the leading distributor in Minnesota of Canon, Lanier, Lexmark and Samsung technologies.

Overall, the industry is down about 15% but Imaging Path has shown consistent growth with revenues of $21 million—and for good reason. Corey is a firm believer that if you have a happy, self-motivated team, it will result in increased client satisfaction. The fact that he has clients who have been with him for more than 12 years is testament to his philosophy.

"You can find a lot of companies that offer the same products," said Corey, "but you won't find a company with a better staff than Imaging Path. Through team building activities such as our Listening House Challenge, my employees create a better community while improving relationships with our clients."

Today, Imaging Path offers clients solutions that include:

- Managed Print Services that guarantee cost savings through analysis, a consolidation of vendors, and an unbiased approach designed to help you drive down costs
- Document Management to help your organization lower costs and increase organizational efficiency
- Integrated Solutions that combined Best of Breed products like eCopy, Fortis, AnyDoc, and PlanetPress with the expertise to seamlessly integrate them into your existing business critical applications
- Scanners, Printers, Computers – from simple desktop copiers or laser fax machines, to production and high volume multifunctional devices including more than 80,000 top name computer networking, hardware, cabling, and software products

Corey Tansom has surrounded himself with a staff that he and his clients view as an extra added value.
